TO THE PUBLIC.

WE wish to caution our friends against an imposition too successfully practised on them, with spurious Nails stamped "JUNIATA."—This caution is deemed necessary from the fact that Nails have been manufactured from inferior Iron, and receive this brand.

An attempt of this kind is calculated to bring into disrepute the JUNIATA IRON, which has been long known to our western friends as an article of the very best quality. We would advise, therefore, in order to defeat this imposition, that the purchaser be governed in his selection by the names of the manufacturers, which will be found marked on the end of each keg of nails, and stamped on each bar of iron.

The undersigned manufacture their Iron from the Ore, and will stand accountable for the quality of the Iron and Nails marked with their stamp.

BYAM'S CHEMICAL EMBROCATION;
OR, LIQUID OPPODELDOC.

THIS article is considered by the first Physicians in the United States to rank higher than any other composition in existence, for the following complaints, viz: Bruises, Sprains, Gout, Rheumatism, Cramp, Numbness, Weakness or Stiffness of the Neck or Joints, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Stings of Insects, Vegetable Poisons, &c. &c. It is applied both to man and beast.

BYAM'S CELEBRATED GENUINE PHYSICAL DROPS,

Preventive against Fevers, composed of roots and herbs—recommended by the first families in the city of Philadelphia.

This medicine is almost a sovereign remedy against the Fever and Ague: if taken in season, it will discharge bile from the stomach, cure coughs and colds and weakness of the breast: it will purify the blood, create an appetite, and cure the most inveterate headache. For worms in children, it is a most efficacious medicine. It is much recommended in cases of the measles, &c.; and it is acknowledged that many lives have been preserved by the use of this medicine, in cases of the yellow fever. Observe that none are genuine without the stamp on the cork of the only proprietor, E. BYAM, genuine, and each label signed with his own hand writing, E. Byam. Price per bottle 25 cents.

☞This certifies that myself, wife, and one of my children, were afflicted with the fever and ague for several weeks, and applied the usual remedies, but to no effect. Having heard of Byam's Physical Drops, I had the curiosity to give it a trial; and by the use of two bottles, we were all cured in one week's time JACOB PETERSON.
Philadelphia, Feb. 1, 1831.

☞Considering it a duty I owe to mankind, I hereby declare that, having been afflicted with dyspepsia through the heat of the summer months in 1830, and not being able to attend to business for much of the time, I tried many resources and much medicine to no relief; and hearing of Byam's Drops, I immediately tried a bottle, which relieved me so much that I purchased a second; and by the use of two bottles I was able to attend to my business, and have remained in good health ever since. SAMUEL M. BROOKS.

POETRY.

From the Boston Transcript.

A piece of paper, containing the following lines, written with a pencil, was picked up at some distance from Mount Auburn. It would appear that the writer was present, during the recent consecration of the Cemetery, at that place. Taking into view the object of the celebration at such a spot, there seems to be much appropriateness in the allusion to the two gardens—that which ADAM was appointed to "dress and keep," and that in which CHRIST was buried. We have taken the liberty of giving them a place in our paper:—

CONSECRATION HYMN.

"There was a garden, and in the garden a new sepulchre."

What myriads throng, in proud array,
With songs of joy, and flags unfurl'd,
To consecrate the glorious day,
That gave a nation to the world.

We raise no shout, no trumpet sound,
No banner to the breeze we spread;
Children of clay! bend humbly round;
We plant a city to the Dead.

For man a garden rose in bloom,
When yon glad sun began to burn;
He fell—and heard the awful doom—
"Of dust thou art—to dust return!"

But HE, in whose pure faith we come,
Who in a sadder garden lay,
Assured us of a brighter home,
And rose and led the glorious way.

His word we trust! When life shall end,
Here be our long, long slumber passed;
To the first garden's doom we bend,
And bless the promise of the last.

From Badger's Weekly Messenger.

The following mournfully beautiful lines will be recognised as the production of Mrs. Sigourney's pen: she confers the highest honor on us, and ministers to the pleasure of her readers, whenever she touches the lyre for the Weekly Messenger.

"Thou hast made desolate all my company.—JOB.

There shone a beam within my bower,
Affection's diamond spark;
The spoiler came with fatal power,
That beam is quench'd and dark:
There was a shout of childhood's joy—
A laugh of infant glee;
The earth clos'd o'er my glorious boy,—
My nursling,—where is he?

There seem'd a sound like rushing wings,
So thick my sorrows came,
A blight destroyed my precious things,
My treasures fed the flame;
An ocean of unfathom'd grief
Swept o'er me with its waves,
And here all desolate I stand,
Alone, amid my graves.

Alone!—there flows no kindred tear,
No sympathising sigh:
The feet of curious crowds are near,
Yet every cheek is dry:
And there is naught but curtaining turf,
And cold earth loosely thrown,
To shut me from those cherish'd forms,
My beautiful,—my own!

Yet who this fearful change hath wrought?
Who thus hath laid me low?
Was it a hand with vengeance fraught?
The malice of a foe?
No!—He who call'd my being forth
From mute unconscious clay,
He who with more than parent's care,
Hath led me night and day,—

Who erreth not,—who changeth not,
Who woundeth but to heal,
Who darkeneth not man's earthly lot,
Save for his spirit's weal.
Therefore I bow me to His sway;
I mourn but not repine,
And chasten'd, yet confiding, say
"Lord, not my will but thine. H.

MARYFORD, September 16th, 1831.

MISCELLANEOUS.

CHOLERA.

The Revue Encyclopœdia contains a notice of a Report made to the Superior Council of Health in France, in which are many details of the devastation occasioned by this pestilence. The object of the article is to inquire how the disease has been modified by variety of climate, and the social organisation of communities, or the efforts of art. The returns of its ravages are very imperfect. We have heretofore given some instances of its great mortality in some parts of India and the East. Many more are furnished by the article in question. Among the Hindoos, the proportion of male patients to female was as four to one.—In one district we observe the amazing mortality of two thirds of those who were attacked. In Bagdad, on the Euphrates, one-third of the population was carried off during the one month in which it raged. It is obvious, however, that where medical aid could be had, it was effectual in vastly diminishing the number of victims. It is scarcely credible that the annual mortality in India from this cause has been two millions and a half, and that allowing for the intermissions of the disease, eighteen millions of souls have been swept away during the last fourteen years. Thus an accident in the composition of the atmosphere countervails, as respects human life, years of policy in government, the meliorations of institutions, and the power of science.

In some places the mortality was as remarkably small as it was frightful in others. In Tripoli, in Syria, containing 15,000 inhabitants, there were but 31 cases and 5 deaths. In Lattachic, out of 511 sick, but 63 died, its population being 6,000. We leave it to the physicians to say whether this disparity be most explainable on the principle of contagion or atmospheric infection.—In the Russian provinces in Asia, or bordering on it, where the mortality compared with the number of sick was about three fifths, the population is thin, and so much scattered, says the review, that it is surprising how a contagious disease could spread among the inhabitants.

We mention some of the deductions drawn by the author of the Report from these statistics. In India, where the malady has been left to take its course, half of those attacked have perished, sometimes two-thirds; when combated by medicine, the mortality has rarely amounted to one third, and sometimes has not exceeded one fifth. One out of ten has been attacked, one out of sixteen has perished. In China, the devastation has been greater, occasioned by the density of the population. In some towns of Persia the mortality was a sixth of the population, though they were in a pure, dry atmosphere, with a temperature of 36 deg. centigrades, or 96 4-50 degrees Fahrenheit.—In Mesopotamia, it was near a third in Bassorah and Bagdad, which are situate on the Euphrates and the Tigris, in an alluvial country, and an atmosphere saturated with moisture. It was less in the mountain regions of Armenia than in the plains. The longest irruption of the disease lasted 114 days, the shortest 20. During the irruption of 1830, in Russia, 100,000 persons were infected, of whom 60,000 perished.—Balt. American.

British Spy.—The Messrs. Harpers announce that they have in press a new edition of the popular and eloquent letters written by Mr. Wirt, and published under the title of the 'British Spy.'—The work will be accompanied with a portrait, and a biographical notice of the author. A new edition of these letters was wanted, the few copies we have seen being wretchedly printed in the smallest sized form. The biography will be peculiarly interesting at this period, as Mr. Wirt is fairly in the field as a candidate fer the highest office in the nation.—N. Y. Spectator.

From the National Gazette.

Continuing our notices of the Exhibition of American Industry, we observe with great pleasure the products of iron from the manufactory of Mr. Phillips, of Centre county, Pa. This comes from the heart of our State, from the very centre of the "Keystone of the Union." What England owes to her coal regions, every intelligent traveler in that country has an opportunity of observing—a similar prosperity attends our own country. Settled in the midst of the coal region, Mr. Phillips has evinced himself fully able to appreciate the advantages ef his situation. Our Exhibitions have already brought before the public his excellent wood-screws, and this year he presents us the whole process of the application of iron ore and bituminous coal in the manufacture of iron. We noticed his hematitic ore, bituminous coal, excellent coke, the iron in the state of bloom, bar, wire and screws, all made by the same process.

Mr. Jones's iron was converted by Mr. Rowland into steel, which we understand is now in the hands of competent judges for experiment.—Connected with this we observed the fine wrought ship iron spikes and nails, made by Henry Burden, of Troy, N. Y., and deposited by his agent, Mr. A. M. Jones, of this city. A variety of articles made of anthracite, and intended for useful and ornamental purposes, such as ink and sand stands, candlesticks, lamps, &c., were exhibited for the first time. This is a new application, and with more experience on the part of the maker, will probably succeed in getting into general use. We understand that they are as strong and hard as those made of glass. The best specimen of this work appears to us to be the bead necklace, which, if it were not for its weight, might supersede the use of jet.

We believe Messrs. Merrick and Agnew were the first to introduce into the country the manufacture of copper rollers for the printing of calicoes and muslins. Those who have no idea of the manner in which the most beautiful designs are transferred upon cotton, will do well to examine the plain and finished rollers, with the goods presenting the last stage in the series.

The display of paper from the Brandywine Manufacturing Company, and from Mr. Robinson's, of New York, proves that the art of paper making is now carried near to perfection in our country. With a British stamp upon it, this paper would not be suspected of American origin.—One of the tables in the front room is covered with beautiful plate from the workshops of Messrs. Fletcher, Lownes, Wilson, Curry, & Preston—with glass-ware from Union Glass Co. in Kensington, New England Co., and from New York; and with fine specimens of Messrs. Tucker & Hemphill's porcelain, the only manufactory of the kind in the United States. Nothing of the kind could be more beautiful than the rich set of castors, the tea-caddy, the cake-basket, and the silver salt-stands, the sugar-bowl and cream-cup, and the small cups, furnished from the manufactory of Mr. Edward Lownes, of Chestnut street.

The Britannia ware, from the Taunton Manufacturing Company, Massachusetts, has attained great perfection, and might almost vie with the plate on the adjoining table. We understand that they are the inventors of the process by which their wares are made.

Many articles have been constantly coming in, which equal or exceed those previously noticed. Yesterday morning a beautiful sofa, made by Mr. White, was, by the liberality of its owner, deposited in the banqueting room, and constitutes an object of great attraction to the visiters. It is of our own black walnut, and is only part of a complete set made for the same gentleman.

The printed muslins of the Merrimack Company were pointed out to us as of remarkable merit; and the last deposit of woollen blankets, from the same manufacturers as those previously noticed, exceed the former specimens. We understand the price of these is ten dollars per pair for the finest.

The harness by Taber is exquisitely finished, and we heard the side saddles by Atkinson commended by a fair one, who would not yield to Di Vernon herself in horsemanship. Some beautiful morocco skins and parchment, by Mr. James Brady, will bear a strict examination.

We were glad to see the rugs from the Locust street school; the children that made them would be delighted, could they hear all the remarks which they have elicited.

No manufacturer deserves more credit than Mr. Joseph Ripka, who seems never satisfied with what he has done, but always anxious to introduce some new branch of industry. This is the gentleman whose nankeens, leno, &c. have at former exhibitions received medals. This year he has taken up silk, and in addition to raw silk of great beauty, he has surprised us with some beautiful specimens of plush.

The exhibition will remain open until 10 o'clock this evening. Those who have not seen Mr. Cornelius's chandelier at night, should not lose the opportunity of doing so. The effect of it is beautiful; the gilding, which in the day time has a massive appearance, assumes in the evening the lightness and airiness of frost work. Were we not straitened for room, we should notice the beautful simplicity and taste displayed in the grates, the eloquence of the musical glasses by Mr. Smith, the stone ware by Messrs. Horner & Shirley, &c. We intended to say something on the subject of the cooking stoves, for which a premium of one hundred dollars has been offered. They have been tried by the judges, and we are safe in saying that the competition was a warm one. As a full report of their merits may be expected, we abstain from expressing an opinion—adhuc sub judice lis est.

Cashmere Shawls.—The manufactories in which are produced the cashmere shawls, so highly valued in Europe, employ nearly 50,000 individuals. It would not, perhaps, be easy to estimate the number of shawls annually woven, but it is supposed that 16,000 looms are employed in this manufacture; and, supposing each loom to produce five shawls per year, the number would be 80,000. A single shawl, if of a very fine texture, may occupy a loom for the space of a year; while other looms may produce six or eight in the same interval. There are generally three workmen at each loom, and when the shawl is of a very superior quality, not more than a quarter of an inch is woven in a day. The shawls which require most work are manufactured in separate pieces: and when brought together, the pieces rarely present the same dimensions. The workmen sit on a bench; and their number varies from two to three, and from three to four, in each work-room. In the manufacture of plain shawls, only two persons are employed; and they use a long, narrow, heavy loom. When it is intended to give variety to the patterns, wooden needles are used; and care is taken to have a needle for every thread of a different color. This is a very slow process, especially when the patterns are elaborate. Women and children separate the fine wool from all heterogenous matter, and after it is carded, which operation is performed by young girls, it is placed in the hands of the dyers. The looms used in these manufactories are horizontal, and exceedingly simple in their construction. The weaver sits on a bench, and a boy, stationed a little below him, keeps his eye fixed on the pattern, and, whenever the machine turns, tells the workman what colors are wanting, and what threads he must employ. The Oustand, or chief of the workmen, superintends all of the operations. When they have to copy a new pattern with which they are not familiar, he teaches them to trace the outlines, and shows them the threads and colors they must use. As soon as the shawls are manufactured, they are taken to the custom house, where a certain mark is put upon them, and a duty levied proportionate to their value, and the quality of the merchandise. It is not customary to wash the cashmere shawls after they come from the loom. Amretseyr is the great market for these shawls.

We understand, says the Boston Courier, that orders were received at Fort Independence, on Sunday evening, to detach two companies of Infantry to Old Point Comfort, in Virginia; and that two companies are to be sent from New York, and one from New London, to the same post.

MR. CLAY AND MASONRY.

A Sign.—When the Grand Lodge proceeded to the installation of the newly elected Grand Master, it was discovered that there were not present a sufficient number of bright and ardent masons, whose duty it is to officiate on such occasions.—One was wanting to complete the number, and Mr. Clay, being the nearest at hand, was requested to attend, but excused himself by assigning "important business."

What this means, the public will see by and by. Mr. Clay is evidently between hawk and buzzard.—Kentucky Gazette.

With Mr. Clay's reasons for not attending the Grand Lodge, during its late annual convocation, we are not acquainted; they are no doubt satisfactory to himself. Mr. Clay does not, at this time, as we have been informed, belong to any subordinate lodge, and consequently is not a member of the Grand Lodge. He could not, therefore, either vote or participate in the debates of the lodge. It was for this reason, for aught we know, as much as any thing else, that he did not attend. Or perhaps he had business of a paramount importance, that demanded his attention.

That the sending for Mr. Clay was intended as a snare, we have no doubt. We have heard it intimated during the session of the Grand Lodge, that Mr. Clay would be invited to attend during the session, in such a way that he could not well decline. But if he did decline, it would be taken for granted that he was courting the anti-masons; and if he attended, the anti-masons would desert him. Whatever he did was to be made known in the Gazette and other Jackson papers. Perhaps these intimations reached Mr. Clay, and caused him to decline the invitation; or perhaps he wished to avoid being placed in the predicament in which the Gazette would have us believe he is now placed—"between hawk and buzzard;" for in assisting to instal the Grand Master elect, it might have been necessary for him to be placed directly between him and the late Grand Master. If so, he would certainly have been just where the Gazette thinks he now is—between a hawk and a buzzard—John M. M'Calla and Levi Tyler.

Under the circumstances, it could not, and ought not to have been expected of Mr. Clay to assist in the installation of Mr. Tyler. Of all the enemies that he has, Levi Tyler is, perhaps, one of the most bitter and inveterate. Some time last spring, one of the basest, most foul and libelous publications that has been put forth by the Jackson party, made its appearance in Louisville, to which was affixed, among other names, that of Levi Tyler! Could Mr. C. be expected to meet and salute such a man as a brother? Could any other man, under similar circumstances, be expected to do so? We unhesitatingly answer, No. Without knowing or pretending to know why Mr. Clay declined the invitation or summons to assist in the installation of the Grand Master elect, we are satisfied he did not do so with a view to electioneer with the anti-masons. Mr. Clay could not have supposed that there was a single member of the masonic fraternity, that would so far forget his standing and obligations as a mason, as to communicate, for political effect, any portion of the proceedings of the Grand Lodge, for publication in a newspaper. He could not have believed, that instead of attending to, and endeavoring to promote the great objects of masonry—the diffusion of charity and brotherly love—the members of the Grand Lodge (or any of them) would endeavor to use its proceedings so as to subserve political purposes. This no mason could have supposed, and it was no doubt a matter of much surprise and mortification to every honorable member of the fraternity, to see the above paragraph in the Gazette of last week; especially when he knew that no person connected with that establishment belongs to the masonic fraternity, and that consequently it must have been communicated by some unworthy member, who, to get an office, or to retain one he already has, would subvert the institution.

We are not prophets, but venture to predict that almost a death-blow has been given to masonry in Kentucky; for however ardently many may be devoted to the principles of masonry, (and there are many among them, the writer of this article is one,) they would sooner see it sink forever, than to see it converted into a political machine, or connected in any way with the politics of the day.

Tyranny and Violation of the Constitution.—The Augusta Courier of the 26th ult. confirms the statement which we referred to yesterday, in relation to the Missionaries in the Cherokee country. At the recent session of the Superior Court of Gwinnett county, the Rev. A. J. Trott, Rev. Ezra Butler, and Rev. S. A. Worcester, with seven other white men, were sentenced to the Penitentiary for four years, for the disobedience to the laws of the State; the said laws being such as would disgrace the least advanced stage of legislation, and being unconstitutional and utterly void. So conscious must the Executive of Georgia be, that they were passed merely in the spirit of bravado, and in terrorem, that he immediately 'pardoned eight of the convicts, on their giving assurance 'that they would not again violate the laws.' Messrs. Worcester and Butler, refusing to bind themselves by a promise which would disfranchise them of their rights as freemen, secured to them by the Constitution of the United States, were committed to the Penitentiary.—Mr. Worcester has made an application to the Supreme Court, the nature of which is not mentioned. Judge Clayton presided at this term. He seems inclined to put as good a face on the atrocity of these proceedings as possible: remembering perhaps the burst of indignation throughout the country, upon the publication of a charge delivered by him to a Grand Jury, about a year ago. At the present term he directed the Grand Inquest to inquire into the oppression alleged to be practised upon prisoners by the Guard: stating that the latter were civil officers. He knew very well, however, that by the very nature of their commission and instructions from head quarters, they were enforcing martial law, almost entirely at their own discretion, and exercising in their own ignorant persons (for the letters of some of their commanders published in the Cherokee Phœnix show them to be wretchedly illiterate,) all the powers both of peace officers and of military officers in command of a post.

Both the Georgia Courier and the Georgia Journal censure Gov. Gilmer for his determination to carry into effect the law inhibiting the Cherokees from digging gold, after it has been declared unconstitutional by a competent tribunal. No Press with any pretention to good sense or decency can do otherwise. But the Governor defies both, and in so doing, is backed by the illustrious head of the nation, and his back-stairs cabinet.—And yet even Gen. Jackson and Gov. Gilmer admit the possessory title of the Cherokees. Under a very different administration, these abominations might be corrected. As it is, we suppose the Cherokees must be driven from their lands—the avowed object of this wicked legislation; and the Ministers of the Gospel must be put in irons and immured in dungeons for four years, for refusing to take the oath of allegiance to Georgia.—N. Y. Spectator.

Missionaries sent to the Penitentiary.—The facts stated below, which with shame we feel obliged now to believe, must kindle up a degree of indignation in American bosoms, which will never be appeased until justice is restored to its authority. Missionaries confined in the penitentiary with felons! for the crime of quietly teaching the poor Indians to read and write and cultivate the soil, and imparting to them the hopes and motives of the Christian Religion!

Such disgrace has never stained the character of the Esquimaux of the North, the cannibals who inhabit the Islands of the Pacific; the Hottentots, Hindoos, and Turks of the East, or the wild and cruel natives of the American coast in the West—all have treated the Missionaries kindly. It is reserved to America, the government of Georgia acting as principal, and the Executive of the nation as accessary, to act a part of cruelty and oppression, which has never been practised by Turks and cannibals.

The following letter comes from a very respectable source.

Extract of a letter, dated Augusta, September 23:—"Eight intruders on the Indian land, and three missionaries, have been sent to the penitentiary for four years for refusing to take the oath of allegiance. I met them on the road, tied and under guard, on their way to prison."—N. Y. Jour. of Commerce.

Volcanic Island.—We published some ten days since a notice of a new volcanic island near Sicily which had been observed by several merchant ships. The Boston Transcript says:

Capt. Bogardus, of the Brig Billow, at Quarantine, from Messina, reports having passed the island on the 24th July. Clouds of smoke were seen during the day, and at night volumes of flame issuing from the crater.

A letter from Marsala, in Sicily, of July 15, says:

A volcano has burst out of the sea, 40 miles S. W. of Sciacci, and 54 miles S. E. from Marsala; we can see it plainly from the top of the house; the captain of a boat from Sciacci says, that the crater has been ascertained to be ten miles in circumference; he brought some pieces of black pumice stone, quantities of which swim about; and that which he brought was picked up 40 miles distant from the volcano. He also says, that great quantities of fish of every description are floating on the water; one was picked up of 36 pounds, ready cooked. Although he passed many miles distant, the heat was dreadful. A master of a vessel from Malta, that arrived here three days ago, says that on passing between Sicily and the volcano on the 15th inst. the sea was so very rough, although but little wind, that he expected he should have gone to the bottom; the wind south east was so hot, that the people on board were obliged to turn their faces from it.

Dr. Magee.—The Irish papers announce the death of the Archbishop of Dublin, the learned Dr. Magee, whose treatise on the Atonement raised him to his high station in the Church. It would appear from the tenor of certain articles before us, that he did not bear his honors meekly.—He mingled in politics as well as polemics, and from a professed Liberal became a violent Tory. The Dublin Evening Post speaks of his 'rabid hostility to freedom,' and says, 'he was the only public man whom we could never forgive.' When he obtained his high office, he labored, it is said, under pecuniary embarassments; and his anxiety to be rid of them and to provide for a numerous family, together with the strife of party warfare, probably brought on his death prematurely, tho' he was well advanced in life. He had been withdrawn some time from public observation, laboring, as was reported, under a prostration both of his mental and physical faculties. His income was fifteen thousand pounds sterling a year, 'wi h a patronage equal to a pair of German Principalities.' This is now at the disposal of the Ministry, and one of the papers says, 'Mr. Hume has now another subject for a new motion on the episcopal superfluities of Ireland.' It must be borne in mind that we draw the foregoing particulars from papers politically hostile to the Archbishop; who was unquestionably a profound scholar and theologian. He died rich; and his life was heavily insured.—N. Y. Spectator.

The new bridge over the Thames, at London, is thus described in a pamphlet by the architect, Mr. ELMES:—

"The elevation of the bridge consists of five very beautifully formed elliptical arches, the central one of which is one hundred and fifty-two feet in span (the largest elliptical stone arch in existence,) and twenty-nine feet six inches in height. The piers on each side of this magnificent granite arch are twenty-four feet in width. The arches on each side of the centre arch are one hundred and forty feet in span, and twenty-seven feet six inches rise. The piers between these and the land arches are twenty-two feet each. The extreme arches nearest to the shores are one hundred and thirty feet each, and twenty-four feet six inches rise. The abutments of the bridge are seventy-three feet each at the base. These five arches are separated by plain granite piers, with massive plinths and pointed cut-waters; they are covered by a bold projecting block cornice, which describes the sweep of the roadway, and are surmounted by a plain double blocking course, receding in two heights like the scamilli of the ancients, which gives the bridge a grand and beautiful antique air, totally unlike the petty perforations and fillagree work of the balusters of Westminster, Waterloo, and Blackfriars' bridges."

We are happy to inform our readers, says the Penobscot Journal, that the Historical Society of Maine are about to publish a volume of papers, relating to the objects of their Association. This society has been organised several years, but as yet has been occupied only in collecting materials.—The volume is in press, and will be issued at an early date. About half of it will be taken up in the history of Portland, and that part of its vicinity comprised in the ancient town of Falmouth.—Another interesting paper is an account of the expedition of General Arnold through this State to Canada, during the Revolutionary War. There will also be an interesting and valuable illustration of this account, consisting of letters written by Arnold on his march, giving an account of his progress. Also the Journal of a British officer, who passed up the Chaudie, after the conquest of Quebec by Wolf, and penetrated some distance into this State. This Journal, falling into the hands of Arnold, probably suggested to him the idea of the route he adopted. These documents were obtained for the Society, through the agency of Col. Aaron Burr, who, it will be recollected, accompanied Arnold, and was by the side of Montgomery when he fell, under the walls of Quebec.

The volume will contain other papers, of the contents of which we are not apprised.

PRODUCTIONS OF ST. THOMAS.

The following description of the fruits of St. Thomas we have taken from a manuscript account of the Island, its plantations, vegetable productions, animals, &c., furnished us by an intelligent and observing young man, for a few years attached to our Establishment, now a resident at St. Thomas. —*N. FRUITS.

Forbidden Fruit is one of the largest fruits known here: is about 18 inches in circumference, round like an orange; of a light yellow color, and resembles the orange much in taste.

Mangoes are one of the richest and most delicious fruits in the West Indies; are a native of the East Indies, and were first brought here about 30 years since; are shaped like an egg, and about the size of a very large pear; the skin is thick and smooth; the color yellow tinged with red; the flesh is of a rich orange color, and in flavor somewhat resembles a peach, having a rich combination of acid and sweet, and very juicy; the tree is very beautiful, of the shape and size of a cherry tree, with broad leaves.

Guavas are a small but delicious fruit, and grow wild on bushes which resemble the American black alder; they are about the size of a large plum; of a yellow smooth skin, and the flesh a light red color; the flavor is similar to a ripe gooseberry.

Bananas are about the size and shape of a cucumber, but more pointed at the ends; the color is yellow, the skin thick, which peals off very easily; the flesh is soft and very sweet and nutritious; they grow in clusters of from 10 to 20 on a stalk; the trees grow to the height of 12 feet, covered with leaves from ten to twelve feet long, which grow in abundant clusters.

Pomegranates are much celebrated for their beauty and their delicious juice; are perfectly round, the size of an apple; the color a rich scarlet; spotted with yellow and black; the skin smooth with a beautiful gloss; the inside is curious, being composed of small separate pieces of flesh, with transparent skin, about the size of a currant, but oblong; the tree resembles the orange tree.

Sour Sops are a large, irregular shaped fruit; color green; flesh white, very soft and juicy, and has a pleasant mixture of acid and sweet, resembling the strawberry; the trees have a rich, dark green foliage.

Shaddocks are what I should call mammoth oranges; resembling that fruit much, but are twice as large.

Pine Apples I need not describe; I would remark, however, they have a much sweeter and more sprightly taste when eaten here fresh.

Cocoa Nuts grow here in abundance. The tree is a sort of palm, from 40 to 60 feet high, with leaves on its top only, appearing like immense feathers 10 to 15 feet long, by 3 broad, and winged—the upper ones erect, the middle ones horizontal, and the lower ones drooping. The nuts hang in clusters of ten or a dozen together. Many of the roads are lined with these trees, which make a beautiful and romantic appearance. When green the fruit is very fine; the meat, instead of being hard, is a soft jelly, and the water is very sweet.

Messibles grow on vines, and are about the size of a peach; the skin brown and rough; the flesh excessively sweet, soft, and full of juice.

Tamarinds grow in pods of a brown color, about the size of large beans. Some kinds are comparatively sweet, and some are so acid as to take the skin off the mouth and tongue.

Coy Moats are round, the size of a peach, are yellow and purple, skin smooth, flesh sweet and rich.

Sugar Apples are a curious fruit; shape irregular; the color a light green; and the size about that of an apple; the flesh is not solid, but composed of small long pieces growing together, which come apart when eaten; the fruit is full of juice and sweet, with little acid.

Marmey Apples are a large fruit, with a rough, brown skin; they are about the size of a cocoa nut, but more round; the flesh is somewhat harder than an apple, and of a dark orange color: the taste resembles the apple, mingled with the flavor of the peach.

Gooseberries (as they are called here) are about the size of a cherry; the color a light yellow when ripe; they have a strong acid taste, and make excellent tarts and pies. They grow on branches on large trees.

Grapes. There are three kinds which grow here; the malaga, and a small black kind, the latter very sweet: there is also the Sea Grape which grows on large trees by the sea shore.

Sherries resemble our black Tartarean cherries very much; of the same size and color; the taste acid, with little sweet. They make excellent pies and tarts.

Plums. These are about the same size as the plums in America; the color is red, and the taste much like the sherries.

Bell Apples grow on vines, and are of the size of a small apple. The skin is yellow and smooth; they are very rich and sweet: the method of eating them is to bite off one end and suck out the inside, they being very soft like the Guava.

Alligator Pear is a very valuable fruit, particularly for the table. The shape, color and size resemble exactly our Winter large Pears, only the skin is smooth; in the centre is a large round seed: the flavor has no acid or sweet, but a rich, buttery taste. When used for the table, it is peeled and eaten with pepper and salt; the flesh is very soft. The tree grows to the size of our pear trees.

Kianops are about the size of a Plum, with a thick green skin, which peels off whole; when off, the flesh looks like the yolk of an egg; the taste is a mixture of acid and sweet—are very juicy.

Pomrose, a small green fruit, having a delightful fragrance: they are hollow inside, with two large seeds, which rattle when shaken. They have a sweet spicy taste, combining the rose and nutmeg.

Bread Fruits are of the size of a child's head: when roasted and eaten with salt and butter, they serve for bread. They are hard and white, like a yam.

Pawpaw. This fruit grows on a small tree resembling the castor-oil-bean plant, but larger. It is of the size of a small musk melon. It is cut into slices, like citron, and preserved in syrup.

The two following kinds I have not seen, and cannot describe, viz: Custard Apple and Granadilla, which grow very large on vines.

We have received a copy of the annual letter from the Secretary of the Treasury, transmitting statements respecting the commerce and navigation of the United States. The registered tonnage, as corrected at the Treasury office, for the 31st of December, 1829, is stated at 650,142, the enrolled and licensed tonnage at 610,654, in which are included 100,796 tons of fishing vessels; making the whole of the tonnage of the United States to be 1,260,977, at the beginning of the year 1830.—The imports during the year ending on the 30th of September, 1830, have amounted to $70,876,920, of which $66,035,739 were imported in American vessels, and $4,841,181 in foreign vessels. The exports during the same year amounted to $73,-849,508. Of these $59,462,029 were of domestic, and $14,387,479 of foreign articles. Of the domestic articles, $51,106,189 were exported in American, and $8,355,840 in foreign vessels: of the foreign articles, $12,776,529 were exported in American, and $1,610,950 in foreign vessels.—During the same period, 967,227 tons of American shipping entered, and 971,760 cleared from the ports of the United States; 131,900 tons of foreign shipping entered, and 133,436 cleared.—*Nat. The Ohio Canal, is now open from Lake Erie to within four miles of Chillicothe, a distance of two hundred and fifty miles. On Monday of last week the water was let into the Columbus feeder, and the first boat arrived here from Lake Erie.—The event was celebrated by a salute of twenty-four guns, a procession, a dinner, &c. Truly, the citizens of Ohio have reason to rejoice and exult in the success which has attended this stupendous work of internal improvement, by their infant state.

A number of merchants of Chillicothe have received their supplies of fall and winter goods by the Canal, for one dollar and eighty-seven cents per hundred, including commissioners, &c. By the former route they paid about four dollars a hundred.—Wheeling Gazette.

MOROCCO.

The following news has been received at the Department of State, from an authentic source, in a letter, dated Tangier, 16th July, 1831.

"Sometime in the month of October, 1830, the Emperor of Morocco sent an army of 80,000 troops, chiefly cavalry, for the purpose of taking possession of the Province of Kemsen in the Pashalic of Oran, Kingdom of Algiers. This armament was fitted out at Fez, in consequence of a request from the Arabs of Kemsen to protect them against the French, and was commanded by the Emperor's Cousin, Muley Soliman, the great Saint of Gawzan, called Sidi el Hadji Larbi, accompanying the army. On their arrival at Kemsen they commenced by levying large contributions to the amount of more than $200,000 as reported, which they sent with a large escort to the Emperor, at Fez. The Arabs, tired of this marauding system and considering the Moors as a worse evil than the French, commenced hostilities against them, and finally beat them out of their Territory. The Emperor not having sent any succours or provisions to the routed army, they returned to Fez, and accused the Emperor of deserting them and robbing them of their booty; they then attempted to kill his Minister, Cidi Mohammed Ben Driz, and finally obliged the Emperor to shut himself up in his palace, from which he attempted in vain to escape, having been stopped by his white guards, called the Yudayas, which corps broke out in open rebellion, and insisted that he was unworthy to be their Emperor. This corps is about 6,000 strong. The black guard, called the Buchard, were then called from Mequines, and remaining faithful to the Emperor, attacked the Yudayas with the intention of cutting them to pieces, but although much more numerous than the whites, the latter gained the victory, and made themselves masters of New Fez, and of the Emperor's palace, with all his wives and treasure. This happened in the month of May last. The Saint of Gawzan Cidi el Hadji Larbi undertook to make peace a few days after the battle, and apparently succeeded, but the Emperor having left his country palace for the avowed purpose of visiting Tetuan, Tangier, Lavach, and Rubat, escorted by 1,000 white guards, and 2,000 black, they had scarcely marched half a league, ere they commenced a mutual attack upon each other, and after fighting about six hours, the whites returned to Fez, with a great part of the Emperor's mules and baggage, while he returned upon the river Cebre with the blacks, having that day lost 600 horse. The Emperor continued his retreat to the district of Beresehee, on the river Uerga, about 25 leagues S. S. W. of this place, when he returned to Mequines, where he continues waiting for an army which is said to be collecting in various provinces to the S. W. but as his enemies appear to be more powerful than his friends, it is doubtful whether he will be able to prevent another being proclaimed in his stead. The Moors are at this moment in the middle of the harvest, cutting and taking in their wheat and barley, and entirely employed in their domestic affairs, after which it is expected that the civil war will again break out, and the fate of Muley Abrahama be decided."

The Salem Gazette says—Mr. Wirt is one of the Delegates to the Clay Convention to meet in December at Baltimore. Probably he will then do as John Alden did, when Miles Standish sent him on a message of love to a fair damsel: the following is the anecdote:—

"In a very short time after the decease of Mrs. Standish, the captain was led to think that if he could obtain Miss Priscilla Mullins, a daughter of Mr. Wm. Mullins, the breach in his family would be happily repaired.—He therefore, according to the custom of these times, sent to ask Mr. Mullins' permission to visit his daughter. John Alden, the messenger, went and faithfully communicated the wishes of the captain. The old gentleman did not object, as he might have done on account of the recency of Captain Standish's bereavement. He said it was perfectly agreeable to him, but the young lady must be consulted. The damsel was then called into the room, and John Alden, who is said to have been a man of most excellent form, with a fair and ruddy complexion, arose, and in a very courteous and prepossessing manner, delivered his errand. Miss Mullins listened with respectful attention, and at last, after a considerable pause, fixing her eyes upon him, with an open and pleasant countenance said, "pr'ythee, John, why do you not speak for yourself?"—He blushed, bowed, and took his leave, but with a look which indicated more than his diffidence would permit him otherwise to express. However, he soon renewed his visit, and it was not long before their nuptials were celebrated in ample form. From them are descended all of the name, Alden, in the United States. What report he made to his constituent, after the first interview, tradition does not unfold; but it is said, how true the writer knows not, that the captain never forgave him to the day of his death."

Steam Fire Engine.—A model of a steam machine for the extinguishment of fire and other purposes, has been exhibited in New Orleans. It is the invention of Mr. Raronet, and described as a locomotive Steam Engine, applied to propelling a wagon, which carries under its bottom a large reservoir of water; and on the floor of its axles two separate Fire Engines, which supply themselves with water, one of which throws two powerful streams of water, the other only a single one, played from a hurricane deck, capable of carrying a very bulky and heavy load of hose. The uses to which it may be applied are numerous; among others, to that of a locomotive engine, for drawing cars; carrying water through the streets to supply families; watering the streets; washing buildings; as a fire engine, the most powerful, or as a supply engine, capable of forcing through three separate hose of two thousand feet, water enough to supply four or more ordinary engines. It is made to travel over common roads and streets without injury to itself or damage to the streets, the felloes of the wheels being seven inches broad, and may be stopped, no matter at what rate she is going, by unshipping the wheels, without occasioning any sensible shock.

Among the notices given of application to the Legislature of this state, to incorporate railroad companies, is one "to make a railroad from York, through the Southern tier of counties and Jamestown, to Lake Erie, with a capital of 6,000,000 dollars."

A glance at the map seems to indicate, that a more important route for a railroad could hardly be chosen. Commencing, for instance, at the village of Rondout on the Hudson, it would start from the termination of the Delaware and Hudson Canal, in Ulster county, strike the Susquehannah River, at a navigable point, in Broome, touch the Chemung in Tioga, where the Canal is to connect that stream with Seneca Lake, meet the Alleghany at Olean, to which place, in Cattaraugus, that river was last year navigated by steam, and terminate at Portland, on Lake Erie, which harbor, if we recollect aright, is usually open twenty days earlier in the Spring, than Buffalo. Such a road would open almost a new region, and that of vast extent, both in this state and Pennsylvania, to the New-York markets.—N. Y. Amer.

A hopeful Son.—Sam Marsh, a soldier in the U. S. Army, was lately advertised as a deserter. He found "ways and means" to visit his parents at Exeter, who are honest people, but in indigent circumstances. He watched his opportunity, while his parents were absent, and took $18 in cash, which his mother had been several months collecting, to effect some special purpose; his father's best coat; a silver watch, and other articles; and has not since been heard of. A most unprincipled son, and who will yet meet his just deserts.

Valuable Discovery.—We learn that a gentleman of this city has invented an improvement in the Fine Arts, by which the representations of portraits, miniatures, &c. are rendered more perfect and natural. This is effected by a process never before made use of, and by methods hitherto undiscovered in this or any other country. A patent for this invention, we understand, is about to be taken out, after which, the public will have opportunities of inspecting specimens.—N. York Evening Post.

The result of the Maryland election has been, five Clay, and four Jackson congressmen, and fifty-nine Clay, and twenty-one Jackson delegates (assembly-men.)—U. S. Gaz.

Governor Branch has published in the Raleigh Star, one or two small letters that passed between him and Major Eaton in January, 1830, which established a charge that Major Eaton, in his late appeal, altered the date of one of Gov. Branch's letters, and suppressed another entirely. It is a poor business any way.—U. S. Gaz.

Statue of Hamilton.—The block of marble, designed for the statue of Hamilton, has been bro't to this city in the brig Elizabeth, Captain Story, from Leghorn, and it is the intention of Mr. Hughes, we learn, to commence the statue immediately.—His known ability as a sculptor has created high expectations in relation to this undertaking. The statue when completed is to be placed in the large room of the Merchants' Exchange. No place could be more appropriate for such a memorial of the man to whom this city is so largely indebted for its commercial prosperity.—N. Y. Evening Post.

The Boston Daily Advertiser mentions that, a Convention of Anti-Masonic delegates from the several counties in Massachusetts, was held in that city on Tuesday last, at which John Quincy Adams was nominated as a candidate for Governor, and Thomas L. Winthrop for Lieutenant Governor of Massachusetts.

Members of Congress.—Messrs. Washington, Semmes, Jenifer, Spence and Kerr, (National Republicans,) and Messrs. Thomas, Howard, Worthington and Mitchell, (Jacksonians) are elected members of Congress from this State. This gives the vote of Maryland against General Jackson, in case the election of President should go to the House of Representatives. The National Republicans had but three members in the last Congress.

Legislature.—We have not received returns from all the counties, but sufficient is known to justify us in saying, that the Jackson party has lost ground since the September election. Twelve Jackson electors were then returned, and, to have preserved their strength, they should now have 24 delegates, instead of which, they will probably not exceed 18, making a loss of two counties.—Balt. Chronicle, 7th inst.

U. S. Senate.—The following is believed to be the state of parties in the next Senate of the United States. There are two vacancies, one in Kentucky, and one in Louisiana, both of which will doubtless be filled by friends of Mr. Clay.

For Clay, 20.—Holmes and Sprague, Me., Bell, N. Hamphire, Webster and Silsbee, Ms., Robbins and Knight, R. I., Foot and Tomlinson, Con., Seymour and Prentiss, Vt., Frelinghuysen, N. J., Clayton and Naudain, Del., Chambers, of Md., Ruggles and Ewing, Ohio, Johnston of Lou., Hendricks & Hanna, Ind.

For Jackson, 16.—Hill, of N. Hampshire, Dudley and Marcy, N. Y., Dickerson, of N. J., Smith, of Md., Bernard and Wilkins, Pa., Mangum, of N. C., Forsyth and Troup, Geo., Bibb, of Ky., Grundy and White, Tenn., Ellis, of Miss., Kane, of Illinois, Benton, of Missouri.

For Calhoun, 6.—Tazewell and Tyler, of Va., Hayne and Miller, S. C., Poindexter, of Miss., King, of Alabama.

Doubtful, 4.—Brown, of N. C., Robinson, of Illinois, Moore, of Alabama, Bucknor, of Missouri.

It will be observed that it will require a combination of the Jackson, Calhoun and Doubtful men, to sustain the measures of the present Administration. Such an event is now about as probable, as a union of the friends of Mr. Clay with the Administration.—Balt. Patriot.

The U. S. Revenue.—We understand from Washington, says the New York Enquirer, that the United States Revenue for the present year will exceed the estimates by eight millions of dollars. It was estimated at $22,000,000—it will reach nearly $30,000,000. And yet we are told by the Nullifiers and Free Trade party, that the Tariff is ruinous to our commerce!—Balt. Patriot.

What is the Tariff?—It is a code of Revenue Laws imposing such a duty on Foreign Capitalists, as protects the American Working Man from the fatal competition of large capitalists, superior skill, and more perfect machinery.

It restrains the English Lord from riding down the American Mechanic.

It secures to American ingenuity and industry the fruit of its labor, and the just reward of enterprize.

It enables the American to realise a fortune—who without it would be toiling to increase the fortune of the English Capitalists, and swell the funded debt of the British banker.

It has expanded our cities with beautiful mansions, and placed on the rent roll of American manufacturers squares of houses.—Penn. Whig.

We learn from the Providence Journal that the Supreme Court of Rhode Island have decided that the possession and detention of goods, in that state, which had been before actually and feloniously taken, stolen, and carried away in another state, could not by any legal action be made to amount to such a constructive taking, stealing and carrying away in Rhode Island, as would constitute the crime of larceny there. The decision is said to be in direct opposition to those of Massachusetts, upon the same point. It grew out of an indictment against one Lowry, for stealing a watch in New Bedford, from the owner, and went with it to Providence, where it was found upon him and identified.—Boston Gaz.

PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

FRIDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 14, 1831.

THE ELECTION.—The official returns have not yet been received from all the townships, but sufficient information has been collected to enable us to form a pretty accurate estimate of the results.—In our next paper we will be enabled to give the official returns, and therefore at present merely give a summary of the results.

William Hays has a majority of 173 votes over James S. Craft, for Senator, and one district (West Deer) to be heard from. This district last year gave Mr. Hays 50 votes, and Mr. Craft 22, so that Mr. H's. majority will probably exceed 200.

For the Assembly, William Kerr, Robert T. Stewart, and John Walker, (Jackson,) and Andrew Bayne, (Antimasonic,) are probably elected.

William Lecky (Jackson) and Joseph Welsh (Antimasonic) will be on the return for Sheriff, the former having an excess over the latter of about one hundred votes.

James Hilands (Antimasonic) is Commissioner.

Ebenezer Kerr (Jackson) is elected Coroner.

John Rankin (Antimasonic) is probably Auditor.

☞Since preparing the above, we have received an unofficial return for Senator from West Deer, which gives Hays 64, Craft 21, and makes Hays's majority 216.—There are no doubt some small errors in these returns.

DAVY CROCKETT.—From the official returns of the recent election in the Western District of Tennessee, it appears that the enormous number of sixteen thousand four hundred and eighty-two votes were polled, of which Mr. Fitzgerald received the slim majority of 586 votes. Very little to boast of, indeed!! When we consider the immense influence Mr. Crockett had to contend against, to him it is certainly a triumph to have received seven thousand nine hundred and forty-eight votes.

TARIFF MEETING.

At a numerous meeting of the friends of National Industry, assembled, according to previous notice, at the house of Mr. George Beale, in Pittsburgh, on Friday evening, the 7th October. The meeting was called to order at the hour appointed by Gen. R. T. Stewart—and on motion, BENJAMIN BAKEWELL, Esq., was called to the chair, and James S. Craft and George Cochran of Rd., were elected Secretaries.

The following preamble and resolutions, offered by Mr. Thomas Bakewell, and seconded by Harmar Denny, Esq. were adopted by the meeting.

WHEREAS, The opponents of American Industry are making strenuous and unparalleled exertions to overthrow that system of protection and encouragement, under the auspices of which the resources of the nation are augmenting, its population increasing, and its power and importance rapidly extending; and

WHEREAS, In times of excitement like the present, when even the existence of the UNION is threatened, it behooves every friend of his country, without distinction of party, or location, to rally around the standard of the constitution, and exert himself to the utmost for the preservation of that system of policy which he considers most conducive to the public welfare—Therefore,

1st. RESOLVED, That in the opinion of this meeting, the manifest improvement which has taken place in the condition and prospects of every section of the Union, since the years 1818, '19 and '20, has been in a great measure occasioned by the protection and encouragement of NATIONAL INDUSTRY; and that upon the permanent application of the general principles of the protective system depends the continuance and extension of national prosperity.

2nd. RESOLVED, That this meeting entirely concurs in the opinion of the illustrious father of his country. "That the safety and interests of a free "people require that Congress should promote such "manufactures as tend to render them indepen-"dent of other nations"—and that the developement of the resources of our country during the period that has elapsed since these sentiments were expressed, furnishes the most incontrovertible evidence of his foresight and sagacity.

3rd. RESOLVED, That in the opinion of this meeting the constitutionality of the protective system is manifest, not only from the language of the constitution itself, but from the support and approbation of Washington, Jefferson, and all the distinguished individuals who have since presided over the government of the nation: and from the absolute necessity for the existence of such a power in the general government to enable the country to maintain its real Independence, and render itself prosperous in peace and powerful in war.

The following resolution was adopted on motion of David Lynch, seconded by Ross Wilkins, Esq.

4th, RESOLVED, That this meeting approve of the principles of the tariff of 1828.

5th. RESOLVED, That five delegates be appointed to represent the interests of this district in the Convention of Mechanics, Manufacturers, and Agriculturists, to be held in the city of New York on the 26th of the present month, and to unite with it in devising such legal constitutional measures as shall most effectually promote the protection of Domestic Industry—And

6th. RESOLVED, That a committee of correspondence consisting of 9 persons be appointed to communicate with similar committees in other places, with power to fill up vacancies in their own body; and that the delegates chosen in pursuance of the last resolution have power to fill up vacancies occurring by resignation or otherwise in their own body.

The meeting then proceeded to nominate and elect the Delegates to the Convention at New York according to the fifth resolution, whereupon, it appeared that

WILLIAM WILKINS,
THOMAS BAKEWELL,
ROBERT T. STEWART,
ALEX. BRACKENRIDGE, and
WALTER FORWARD,

Having the highest number of votes present, and each a majority of the whole, were duly elected.

On motion, the following gentlemen were appointed as a committee of correspondence according to the sixth resolution.

Benjamin Bakewell,	Michael Allen,
Wm. Robinson, Jr.	Isaac Lightner,
James S. Craft,	Andrew Murphy,
Lewis Peterson,	Geo. Cochran of Rd.
Harmar Denny,

And on motion,

RESOLVED, That the several newspapers of the district be requested to publish the proceedings of the meeting.

BENJAMIN BAKEWELL, chairman.

JAMES S. CRAFT, GEO. COCHRAN, of Rd. } Secretaries.

Pittsburgh, October 10th, 1831.

The stick with two faces.—We heard an anecdote the other day which amused us not a little. One of the candidates for office, whilst going the rounds, met with an old Dutchman, whom he annoyed with requests to vote for him. The honest old fellow carried a stick that had two faces upon it, and when asked for his suffrage by the candidate, answered, holding up his stick, "no, sir, you are too much like my stick."—Communication in the Baltimore Chronicle.

Kentucky.—A letter from Georgetown, Kentucky, dated September 11, published in the Richmond Enquirer, states that Mr. Lecompte, one of the re-elected Jackson Representatives to Congress, died a few days previous. If this be the fact, a new contest will take place for a Representative to Congress.

The last Milledgeville Journal contains a correspondence between Gov. Gilmer and Mr. Cass, the Secretary of War, from which it appears that the President has appointed Mr. Curry as United States Agent for opening an enrolment Register for such Cherokees, within the chartered limits of Georgia, as may be disposed to emigrate beyond the Mississippi. The measure is to be pressed with as much alacrity as possible.

It is stated in a letter from St. Thomas, dated September 20, that the slaves in the island of Tortola had risen against the whites, crying out for their emancipation.—National Gazette.

At a Convention of the Anti-Masonic delegates from the several counties in this commonwealth, held in this city on Tuesday, Hon. Samuel Lathrop was nominated as a candidate for Governor, and Hon. Thomas L. Winthrop, for Lieut. Governor, at the next election. The Daily Advertiser of yesterday, with its customary desire to lay before its readers the latest news, erroneously stated that the Convention had agreed to support John Quincy Adams for the office of Governor. The fact is, the Convention did not agree upon a candidate until yesterday forenoon, when Mr. Lathrop, as we are informed, was nominated with great unanimity.—Boston. Gaz.

A letter to the editor of the Warrenton (Va.) Gazette, from a friend in Tennessee, states that it is probable that Major Eaton will be chosen by the legislature of that State, now in session, as Senator to the next Congress.

MARRIED,

EXTRACT from the minutes of the first Pittsburgh Hose Company, adopted at an extra meeting, held at the Masonic Hall, on the 7th instant.

"Whereas, the City Councils, in 1830, did appropriate money for certain purposes, as applied for by this company, which money they have not been able to obtain from the present councils—it is, therefore,

"Unanimously resolved, That the committee appointed at a former meeting, to lay before the councils of this city a statement of the wants of this company, be directed to inform the councils, that the comfort and convenience of the company make those wants indispensable before the coming inclement season, and that unless an appropriation be made before the first Monday in November next, to enable this company to procure those wants, that the company will then consider itself dissolved; and, that this resolution be signed by the President and Secretary, and published in all the public papers of the city."

Edgeworth Ladies' Boarding School,
BRADDOCKSFIELD, NEAR PITTSBURGH,
Will recommence its engagements on the first Monday of October next.

THE increased and increasing approbation given to this institution cannot fail to produce a corresponding zeal and energy, and a desire to secure a settled good opinion. At this time very many additions have been made, for the convenience, comfort, and well doing of the pupils.—In so large a field as is open for education, understood in its true and extensive sense, there must be room for continual culture. Unabated will be the effort to do the utmost possible to meet so responsible a charge as the care of youth, and to this effort will be added the aid experience brings.—With little observation, in every succeeding month, somewhat is seen to revise and improve.

Edgeworth Seminary has been now of several years standing, and, disclaiming all egotism, it is only the fact to say that experience enables it to offer rather an increase than a diminution of means to give satisfaction.

The health enjoyed by the inmates, and beauty of situation of Braddocksfield Mansion, are well known to visiters, but for information of strangers, it is necessary to state, that in both particulars terms too flattering cannot easily be used.

To instruct, coercive means are not employed—reference is made to the heart as well as the head. Pains are taken to inculcate, that to be great, it is an indispensable to be virtuous; and as the worth of knowledge is only to be estimated by its tendency to right action, the study of every branch, and the proportion of time given to it, will be made subservient and tributary to useful moral and religious improvement.

Sabbath day engagements must not be interrupted unnecessarily. Pupils living at a distance, or from any cause, disposed to make Braddocksfield, during the vacation, their home, are invited to do so, and no additional charge is made.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S
☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM. ☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,
From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.
UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR. J. SUMNER, having discovered an infallible cure for different species of HERNIA or RUPTURE, by an external application of ointment, without inconvenience to the patient; which ointment, prepared only by himself, he now offers for sale to all who are afflicted with the above complaint, being confident of success from the many proofs he has had of its efficacy—likewise, he considers it a duty to give to the public a fair statement of his own case.

For fifteen years he was sorely afflicted with two Ruptures, the pains of which were so severe, that he was compelled to relinquish all active business, wearing a Truss, and keeping himself a long period mostly confined, and had nearly gave up all hope of ever enjoying a comfortable state of health.—In this dilemma he was forcibly struck with the old adage, that there never was an evil without a remedy, and forthwith commenced a series of experiments upon himself, which through Divine Providence resulted in a complete and radical cure. JOHN SUMNER.
No. 139 North Third Street, Philadelphia.

This may certify, That my Son, aged thirteen years, was afflicted with a Rupture for three years, and was under the necessity of wearing the Truss constantly, but without any other effect than a temporary relief, and was effectually cured by Dr. J. Sumner in about three weeks time.

JOHN C. DOUGLAS.
No. 131 South Eleventh street, Philadelphia.

This may Certify, That I have been afflicted with a Rupture for between four and five years, and have been effectually cured by Doctor J. Sumner, in about five weeks time.

JOHN VASEY,
Corner of York Road and Coates street, Philada.

I Certify, That I was afflicted with a Rupture for four years, and was effectually cured by the application of Dr. Sumner's OINTMENT, in the term of four weeks. E. WILSON.

I Certify, That my Son David, was effectually cured of a Rupture in three weeks time, of twelve years standing, by making use of Dr. Sumner's OINTMENT. D. COX.

The above Certificates are deemed sufficient, and many others might be obtained, and many references can be given.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.
